PICTURE CAPTION

Bishop Tutu in New York

81113 Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu told an Evensong congregation at Intercession Church, New York, that South Africa's apartheid system would fall when "all races became convinced that each person was made in the image of God." Tutu, general secretary of the South Africa Council of Churches, was in the U.S. to receive an award from the Onassis Foundation honoring his work against racism. His comments in the U.S., although no different from those he makes at home, have brought pressure to bear on the Pretoria regime to confiscate his passport once again.
